FRENCH MAJOR, B.A.

Ancient & Modern Languages Department; College of Arts, Humanities & Social Sciences

Students majoring in French prepare in language, culture, and literature for international business, banking, trade, airlines, or related professions in French-speaking nations (primarily France, Switzerland, Belgium, and Canada). Graduate level studies prepare students for a teaching career in French. Moreover, many graduate school programs require students to learn a foreign language, as many companies in the United States and abroad are looking for employees who speak more than one language.

To graduate must complete all major requirements, foundational requirements, and additional electives needed for 124 hour minimum degree requirement.
