GET TO KNOW ASBURY

Since 1890, Asbury University has been recognized as a liberal arts institution in fervent pursuit of knowledge, excellence, and truth. The university's holistic, Christ-centered approach to academia allows for biblical truths to weave throughout curricula and teaching methods while equipping students with the requisite skills for a dynamic global workforce. With this intention, students receive education through a Christian perspective at an institution that consistently lands in the Top 20 of Regional Universities by US News & World Report.

As a nationally recognized university, Asbury offers more than 150 undergraduate majors, plus degree-completion, graduate degrees and high school dual-enrollment programs. Asbury University encourages its students to study, worship and serve together on a campus located 20 minutes southwest of Lexington in Wilmore, Kentucky.

A nondenominational Christian university, Asbury welcomes students from diverse backgrounds and every corner of God's Kingdom. We are historically rooted in the Wesleyan-Holiness tradition, which means we draw on a rich heritage of understanding God's grace as a life-changing power that transforms hearts and leads us to serve. More than 22,000 living alumni surround the globe, leading and serving in all 50 states and at least 80 nations. We teach students to think well, love well, serve well, and live well.

"There are many important things we do at Asbury University. Rigorous intellectual development. Social and communal integration. Market preparation. Spiritual maturation. But my desire for our students is that they run to Jesus. Run to the cross, to the abundant life."

My vision for Asbury is to become the best university in the country for striking a balance between a student's intellectual competence, communal experience, and formative development in a Christ-centered educational environment."

-Dr. Kevin J. Brown
President, Asbury University

READY TO CALL KENTUCKY YOUR NEW HOME?

When working at Asbury, central Kentucky offers a wonderful mix of relaxing outdoor adventures, bustling city life in nearby Lexington, and a wide variety of cultural attractions. Located in the “Horse Capital of the World,” this Bluegrass area features quiet and peaceful landscapes surrounded by state parks and rivers, perfect for nature enthusiasts.

Asbury is also located less than 20 miles from Lexington, an opportunity-rich hub that is known nationally for its high quality of life and low cost of living. Here, you’ll find expansive opportunities to experience the best of southern cuisine and culture, athletic clubs and organizations, recreational and family friendly activities, local and national art shows, and of course, ample equine attractions.

The region is a hotspot for adventurers and cultural enthusiasts for a crucial reason – the convenience of being so close to major cities holding sports venues, concert halls, and museums while being situated in a country setting.

The city’s affordable cost of living, nearly 6% lower than the national average (2023), and strong job market make it an attractive destination for young and seasoned professionals, as well as families. Asbury also sits in the middle of multiple trusted medical centers and care providers. Central Kentucky has a wide range of school options for children, including top notch public schools, a wide variety of private and Christian school options and vibrant homeschool networks.

Wilmore and the central Kentucky region have plenty of churches and ministries where you can connect and serve. Large churches sit just 10 minutes away from Asbury while other small-town, traditional churches rest within walking distance of campus.
